VILLA DEFIES CARRANZA

Split In The Constitutionalist Ranks and Compromise Effected.

VILLA TO DO AS HE PLEASES.

Two Distinct Governments in Northern Mexico Result of Plan.

El Paso, Tex., June 19.—Gen. Carranza last night advised Lazaro Di La Garza, Villa's agent here, that the difficulty between himself and Villa had been adjusted by Carranza giving his permission to proceed south to Mexico City, regardless of the appointment of Gen. Natera as head of the new central zone.

Carranza said that the forces of Gen. Obregon in the west and Gen. Gonzales in the east would work independently of Gen. Villa's troops.

The constitutionalist commander concluded by saying that the misunderstanding between himself and Villa, and any future misunderstandings between any of the leaders, would be left for adjustment when the three armies meet before the national capital.

In the meantime Gen. Villa will run his own military and civil officers in his territory.

The narrative of what occurred between Carranza and Villa is as follows:

On Saturday Carranza ordered Villa to send 5,000 men to the assistance of Natera, under command of one of Villa's generals, to Zacatecas himself remaining with his army, which would have placed Villa's troops under command of Natera, in whose zone Zacatecas is located.

After this exchange of telegrams, Villa proffered his resignation. Carranza asked that his successor be appointed immediately. Then followed a conference of fourteen generals under Villa, who declined to accept a new leader. Villa then told Carranza that he was going to move south, as he had announced previously. The exchange ended.

Villa took over the Carranza offices and put his own men in. Among the national officers arrested at Juarez was Scrapio Aguirre, Carranza's treasurer-general, who had been issuing a new series of constitutional money. The money was confiscated by Villa's troops. It amounted to more than $1,000,000.

CROFTON MAN'S NECK BROKEN

Cyrus S. Scates Makes Fatal Fall Into Bin of A Mill.

Cyrus S. Scates, a son of Walter I. Scates, of Crofton, was killed by a fall in Louisville Wednesday. He was elevator foreman of the Louisville Cereal Mills and fell from a ladder into a bin he was about to clean, a distance of 35 feet, and his neck was broken, causing instant death. His body was found sometime later by a fellow-employee. Mr. Scates was 31 years old and several years ago was with one of the mills here for awhile and went from here to Louisville. He was unmarried.

The body was brought to Crofton yesterday morning for interment in the family burying ground two miles south of that place.

THE CHAUTAUQUA IS A GREAT SUCCESS

First Three Days Have Splendid Programs. Kemp, Ott, Colledge, Ben Greets, More Than Please Large Crowds. Everybody Delighted.

NEXT TUESDAY WILL BE THE LAST DAY FOR HOPKINSVILLE.

Marcus Kellerman and Cathedral Choir To-night. Kryl's Band Monday Morning at Nine O'Clock—Banner Day Will Be Monday.

BOHUMIR KRYL.

Today will be one of the red letter days of the Chautauqua. Henry Clark, who has won his way into the hearts of the people of Hopkinsville, will give two of his splendid lectures, one at ten o'clock on "Marriage and After" and the other directly at the close of the Kellerman song recital on "Our Daily Bread." His last morning lecture will be Tuesday morning at ten o'clock. His subject will be "The School Bell's Challenge." This afternoon, Saturday, beginning promptly at three o'clock Marcus Kellerman, the popular New York baritone, will give a song recital. His program will be varied in its nature, thus giving Mr. Kellerman an opportunity to display his magnificent baritone voice. Mr. Kellerman sings only "the big stuff" as the New York producers say. He has a pleasing personality and loves to meet people.

To-night the famous Cathedral Choir will entertain the audience. They are a fitting climax to the first day's musical festival. With eight extra fine voices in the choir, they give one of the best concerts on the whole program. Their solo, quartet, sextet and octet work is something bound to please the most critical of people. Already Chautauqua audiences are clamoring for their return next year.

As no program will be given tomorrow, Monday will be a day filled with splendid features. The Kryl Band and the Denton Grand Opera Company will give a two hour program in the morning. Many of the stores will close because of the admiration the people of Hopkinsville have for Kryl. He has always given this city a great concert and the people here love genuine band music. Preparations are being made to accommodate an extra large crowd.

In the afternoon Strickland W. Gillilan will give his famous lecture "Sunshine and Awkwardness." His quaint humor usually arouses an audience to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. Preceding his lecture Misses Harmar and Neff will give a half hour musical prelude on the piano and violin.

Monday night will be known as Children's Night. Both George Colby and Hal Merton are artists possessing unusual merit in their respective lines. Colby, the cartoonist, is a world traveler. His sketches have appeared in many of the leading publications of the country. Hal Merton, the magician, has appeared on the big lecture courses in nearly every large city of America. His work is bound to please the youngsters.

Tuesday will be the closing day of the Chautauqua. In the afternoon Montville Flowers will give his great lecture "Color Guard and Picket Line." In the evening the Kellogg-Haines will give light opera. There are five in the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party including a pianist. Miss Imogene Gross, the soprano has been soloist in several of the large churches of St. Louis. She was a pupil of Madam Stella Kellogg-Haines for whom the Singing party was originally named.

Miss Altha Montague, the contralto, studied for two years under the well known Professor McBurney, Chicago, and was for a time soloist of the big Hyde Park Baptist Church in that city. She is a graduate of the Chicago University with an A. B. degree.

John Eichenberger, tenor, was soloist in several of the best paid church choirs in St. Louis, has had theatrical experience and has coached with the best teachers in this country.

William A. Goldberg, baritone, was a boy wonder on the violin, later discovering that he had a fine voice. He gave up the violin for voice although he had played violin for years professionally. He had also sung leading grand opera roles in English before entering the Lyceum.

Mr. Delbert Chute, the pianist, is a pupil of Heniot Levy, one of the foremost piano teachers in the United States and has had work in harmony and theory with Adolph Brune. Much of the program of this com-

CRIMINAL DOCKET ENDS

Circuit Court Winding Up The Criminal Cases To-day.

PETIT JURIES DISCHARGED.

Last Week of Court Will Be Devoted to Equity Matters.

Judge Hanbery is finishing up the Commonwealth cases this week and will dismiss the petit juries today.

Next week will be devoted to the hearing of equity cases and motions. The jury in the case of the Commonwealth against Luther Gray, col., charged with the larceny of about $190.00 from Gus McReynolds, col., found the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment and fixed his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for an indefinite period of not less than two years nor more than five years.

The L. & N. Railroad will take an appeal in the separate coach case in which a fine of $500 was imposed for not furnishing adequate accommodations to colored passengers. There are other indictments, but these will not be tried until the higher court passes on the case. A similar case against the Illinois Central Wednesday resulted in a verdict of not guilty.

MUST PAY INCOME TAX.

Heavy Penalties If Not Met By June 30.

Washington, June, 19.—Secretary McAdoo has again called attention to the fact that all persons, corporations and associations liable under the income tax law must pay their assessments to the collectors in their respective districts before June 30. He pointed out that the law imposes heavy penalties for failure to make payments within the prescribed time and that the secretary has no power to waive or remit these penalties.

pany is given in elegant and appropriate costumes. Some of these numbers are the best examples of humor and wit that good literature has to offer.

The program up to the present time has, indeed, been a most extraordinary one.

Everett Kemp, the monologue artist who presented "That Printer of Udell's" Thursday afternoon was absolutely the finest interpreter of literature the people of Hopkinsville have ever heard. Kemp has a wonderful histrionic ambieity. He is vivid, magnetic and possesses a splendid voice.

Edward Amherst Ott, who spoke on "Haunted House" Thursday night made another decided impression upon the vast audience who gathered to hear his powerful address. Ott is a great thinker. His lectures are gems of philosophy. They bear fruit wherever they go.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Colledge gave a splendid address full of interesting matter. Would that everybody had his power of presenting facts in an interesting manner. He is a veritable encyclopedia. He gives you more in one afternoon's lecture than most college professors give a student in four years.

The Welch-Christensen-Baker company proved to be a trio of musical artists. They pleased the audience in a manner highly satisfactory. The Ben Greets were at their best last night. Their acting at times was superb. It showed the effect of a careful trainer. An unusually large crowd witnessed the performance.

DEATH CHAIR FOR COLLIER

Idea of Electrical Volts Going Through His Body Makes Negro Smile.

SENTENCED, HE GRINS.

Judge Givens Believes It Court's Duty To Protect the Police In Their Work.

Evansville, Ind., June 19.—Robert Collier, colored, who Saturday night shot and killed Patrolman John Cairns at the corner of Riley street and Lincoln avenue, was sentenced to die in the electric chair by Judge Givens in circuit court yesterday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. The negro showed remarkable nerve as he was being sentenced. Just as the judge was uttering the words "and his death be inflicted by causing to pass through his body a current of electricity of sufficient intensity to cause death," the negro chuckled. When placed in the custody of the sheriff to be taken from the court room to the jail, he turned to the crowd and waved his left hand, smiling.

The packed court room was astonished at the attitude of the convicted negro. The street was crowded as he walked from the court house to the jail and he raised his handcuffed arms to the crowd.

Then-gro pleaded guilty to first degree murder Tuesday and preferred a trial by the court to a trial by jury to decide his penalty.

His father, an old negro, with a long gray beard, who had been sitting with him in the court room all day, stood at the side entrance of the jail crying as he was taken over.

When asked by Judge Givens if he had any reason to give why the sentence should not be imposed on him Collier answered that he had no witnesses to prove that Cain had struck him before he shot and he was willing to take any sentence the court should give.

The date for Collier's execution was fixed for Friday, October 16, before sunrise. As a matter of law he will remain here in the county jail for ten days, when a warrant for his execution will be sent to Warden Fogarty, of the state prison at Michigan City by the county clerk. He will be taken to the death chamber at the prison to await the date of execution.

The commission was empowered to hand the situation growing out of the break with Vanderbilt university.

Official information reaching the Washington government Thursday from American Consul Edwards at Juarez, said General Francisco Villa
and General Venustiano Carranza, leaders of the constitutionalist movement in Mexico, had patched up to take charge of the military movement at Zacatecas, where the revolutionary forces recently met reverses. That Villa had determined on a break with Carranza and had demonstrated his attitude by imprisoning officers in the first constitutionalist chief's command was verified in reports to the state department. It was declared, however, that Villa's action had served the purpose for which it was originated and that the conqueror of Torreon and Saltillo would command
the military advance against Huerta
from this time forth without interruption.

JOHNSON N. CAMDEN ACCEPTS APPOINTMENT TO U. S. SENATE
TENDERED BY GOV. MCCREARYNew Member Has Long Been Identified With Development and Progress of Kentucky and Aspires To Primary Indorsement For the Short Term.

Frankfort, Ky., June 16.—In response to the formal notification sent by Governor McCreary to Johnson N. Camden, of Versailles, of the appointment of the latter to the United States Senate to fill the vacancy created by the death of the late Senator William O. Bradley, His Excellency to-day received the following letter of acceptance from Senator Camden:

"Versailles, Ky., June 16, 1914.
"His Excellency, Governor James B.
McCreary, Frankfort, Ky.—My Dear Governor McCreary: With great gratification, and with the fullest appreciation of the high honor bestowed upon me, I accept your appointment as United States Senator.

"May I say that, however unworthy I am to wear the mantle of the great statesmen who have so often represented Kentucky in the United States Senate, I am sensible that in two qualifications I may at least link my name with theirs—in love
for my state and in the desire to serve her well.

"Short as my term of office will be, I shall seek, as best I can, to discharge its duties with absolute fairness toward all
and with the high spirit and broad aims which the large and vital questions now before the country demand, with the principles of the Democratic party as outlined in the Baltimore platform as my guide.

"Your Excellency knows how deeply I am and have been concerned in our agricultural and educational welfare, and it pleases me to think that in my appointment you may have intended an especial recognition of these, the corner stones of the progress of any state or nation.

"Having decided to accept your appointment, I feel a natural desire that your action should be indorsed by the people.
I have, therefore, decided to enter the August primary and to ask the people to set their seal of approval upon my appointment by nominating and electing me
for the remainder of the term, from November until next March.

"With renewed expressions of profound
thanks and appreciation, I am, dear sir, very sincerely yours, J. N. Camden."

Long Identified With Kentucky.

Senator Johnson Newlon Camden has for nearly a quarter of a century been identified with the agricultural, educational, industrial and political life of Kentucky, and is to-day one of the state's most potent men of affairs.

Senator Camden was born at Parkersburg, W. Va., January 5, 1865, the son of Johnson Newlon and Anne (Thompson)
Camden. On the paternal side he is of English and on the maternal side of Scottish-Irish and Dutch ancestry.

His father was United States Senator from West Virginia from 1881 to 1887 and from 1893 to 1895, and was a powerful factor in the political life and industrial development of West Virginia. He had large holdings in coal and oil properties,
and was identified with many enterprises
in connection therewith.

Upon his graduation from Phillips Andover Academy and the Virginia Military Institute the subject of this sketch attended Columbia University and afterward entered upon his active career as Treasurer and Paymaster of the Ohio River Railroad, a line which had been built by his father. He resigned this position to become President and Treasurer of the construction company engaged in building the Monongahela River Railroad, from Fairmont to Clarksburg, W. Va., and continued so occupied until the completion of the line.

Marries Kentucky Belle.

It was while thus engaged that he came to Kentucky and married, in 1888, a fair daughter of the Blue Grass, Miss Susanna Preston Hart, whose father was Mr. William Preston Hart, the founder of the famous Spring Hill Farm, near Versailles,
in Woodford County.

After a couple of years' residence in Parkersburg, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Camden decided to make their home at Spring Hill Farm, and in 1890 they returned to this garden spot in the Blue Grass, which now embraces 1,600 acres, upon which Senator Camden has, by producing the best of tobacco, hemp, wheat, corn, oats, clover, timothy, alfalfa and some of the finest of this country's thoroughbred running horses, fine cattle and sheep, demonstrated that he is by instinct, inclination and choice a practical farmer who is well versed in the science of farming and a live-stock breeder who has a superior knowledge of blood lines and mating.

Senator Camden is a member of the Kentucky Branch of the Farmers' Union
and is President of the Farmers' Union Mill, the only co-operative mill in the state. He is the pioneer alfalfa grower in Kentucky, and has been long interested in experimental work as fostered

by the Kentucky Experiment Station at Kentucky State University, of which he is one of the Trustees. His distinction as a breeder of thoroughbred horses and the interest he displayed for the improvement of the breed caused his appointment to membership on the State Racing Commission by Governor A. E. Willson and his reappointment by Governor James B.
McCreary and his election by his fellow
Commissioners as Chairman of the Board.
As a breeder of Jersey cattle Senator Camden has achieved much success. He has at Spring Hill farm a herd of about 100 purely bred Jerseys, principally Island stock, and he conducts a practical, paying dairy.

Interested in Education.

Senator Camden has ever displayed an earnest interest in education, and at the recent session he was chosen Vice President of the Southern Educational Conference, to succeed Hon. Walter Page, who is now Ambassador to the court of St. James. His now famous barbecue to the farmers of Kentucky at his great farm
last summer was planned as an educational event for the tillers of the soil, and it was voted by all who attended—and they numbered into the thousands—the most wonderful achievement of its kind yet undertaken by any individual in Kentucky.

After the death of his father Senator Camden took up the management of vast mining and industrial affairs, and has demonstrated that he possesses inherent business instinct. He associated himself with the late John C. C. Mayo, and with former Senator C. W. Watson, and formulated plans for the wonderful development that is progressing in Eastern Kentucky.

Senator Camden became actively interested in politics in 1911, serving on the Executive and Financial State Democratic Committees, the accomplishment being a sweeping Democratic victory and the election of the present state administration.
The following year he was Chairman of the Presidential Campaign Committee, with a like Democratic victory.

Senator and Mrs. Camden have two daughters, Misses Tevis and Anne, the latter of whom is at school at Margaret College, Versailles, and the former a very accomplished young woman.

Wreck on Gracey Branch.

The Gracey accommodation on the Princeton branch of the L. & N. was wrecked Tuesday afternoon while en route to Clarksville on its return trip from Gracey, the locomotive and both coaches leaving the rails. The accident occurred during the wind which preceded rain. The train in charge of Conductor James Watson and Engineer Tandy Lacey, was running at a moderate speed on account of the strong blow. Suddenly a large tree, which stood near the track, was uprooted and fell across the rails. Before Engineer Lacey could stop the train the locomotive struck the tree and the derailment followed, but no one was injured. Damage, however was done to the locomotive and cars.

Unusual Offer To Our Readers.

For a limited time, and subject to withdrawal after 30 days, the well-known publishing house of the J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia, founded in 1792, offers to the readers of this paper a 12 months' subscription to "Lippincott's Magazine" and a year's subscription to the Kentuckian, both for $3.00. This is the price of a twelve months' subscription to "Lippincott's" alone. Additional to obtaining every issue of this paper for a year, our readers will receive in "Lippincott's," 12 great complete novels by popular authors, 105 short stories, crisp, entertaining, original 45 timely articles from the pens of masters, and each month some excellent poems with the right sentiment, and "Walnuts and Wine," the most popular humor section in America. To obtain this extraordinary offer prompt action is necessary. Remit to J. B. Lippincott Company, Washington Square, Phila., Pa. Advertisement.

Pullman Stowaway.

Kansas City, Mo., June 15.—After spending two nights and three hotter days doubled up in the linen chest of a Pullman sleeper coming from Los Angeles, a man who said his name was Thomas Joaides of Princeton, Ky., was taken from the train here today in a state of collapse. Joaides said he had nothing to eat but a sandwich since he left Los Angeles. He said he had received word that his 18-year-old wife and a sick baby, the last of twins, were dying and having no money he gave his watch to a porter to let him travel as a stowaway.

HIS WIFE WAS SOME TALKER

Married Man Coolly Informs Better-Half She Could Hear Niagara If She Stopped Talking.

They were talking about the conversational power of the fair sex at a reception in Washington a few weeks ago, when Congressman Augustus Stanley of Kentucky cited a case that left no doubt as to mother's ability to win the first prize.

Some time back, according to the congressman, a friend of his visited Niagara Falls, taking with him his wife and his wife's sister. Immediately on arriving and securing hotel quarters, the party set out to see the wonderful sight, wifey and wifey's sister talking as they walked along on a million interesting subjects.

"Say, John," said wifey, turning to the old man after they had gone quite a distance, "aren't we getting near the falls?"

"Yes," was the prompt reply of John. "If you will stop talking a minute you will hear the thunder of the water quite plainly."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Apportionment.

The architect approached the owner of the new hotel.

"Everything is finished except the kitchen and the tango room," he reported, "and there is just $18,107 left to spend on them."

"Go ahead and do the best you can with the money," said the owner. "If necessary, spend all of $107 on the kitchen."

Celestial Brightness.

"Chose it ain'," replied Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "Wif all dem good umbrellas to pick 'um, you didn' s'pose I were g'ineter bring you back yoh same ol' cotton rain-roof, did you? When I borrows, I pays interest."

A Natural Inclination.

"The Chinese are ancestor worshippers."
"Well," replied Senator Sorghum, "we're not altogether free from that tendency. We can't help having a certain especial regard for a man who wears his whiskers so as to make him look like Abraham Lincoln."

Exchange of Duties.

"You think that women ought to be allowed to do men's work?"

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne, "if they want to; although I can't see why a wife should want to put in the afternoons in a shop or an office while the husband is out dancing the tango."

Fowl Language.

Little Lester B—, traveling on the continent with his mother, grew tired of hearing nothing but French and German, etc., spoken. One morning, hearing a rooster's cock-a-doodle-do, he exclaimed: "Thank goodness! There's something that speaks English, anyway."

Danger of Misunderstanding.
"Will you call on father and ask him for my hand?" asked Gwendolyn.
"I'm afraid I'd never get a chance to tell him why I called," replied the young man. "You see, I'm employed as a bill collector by people to whom he owes money."

HAD TO SEARCH HIS MEMORY

Successful Candidate for Municipal Honors Missed One Nationality Among His Supporters.

The Minneapolis Journal relates that Dr. Charles C. McIntyre of Denver said the other day in New York: "You have a mayoralty contest coming on here. Well, that reminds me of one of your former mayoralty contests, when the victor said to a friend:

"Ignacio, my boy, I was elected to the mayoralty by votes of eight nationalities—eight stanch nationalities voting for me, Ignacio, as one man."

"Who are they?" asked the other.

"They were," replied the mayor, "Italians, Germans, Irish, Polish, Russian, Greek, French and—"

"That's only seven. Go on," said the other.

"French and—French and," faltered the mayor; but, to save his life, he could not think of the eighth nationality that had elected him.

"As the mayor, with wrinkled brow, pondered and puzzled, his friend cried suddenly: 'By jingo, maybe it was Americans—that's it exactly! I couldn't think of 'em to save me.'"

"Well, I realize the benefits of peace, but you must admit that there isn't much interest or excitement about it. You see I'm in the motion-picture business."

IRELAND'S FARMERS.

The 1,073,238 persons actively engaged in farm work in Ireland on June 1, 1912, constituted 24 per cent of the total population (4,390,219), according to the 1911 census. Of this number 810,503 were male and 262,735 females.

SUPPLY OF BABIES

Some Statistics About the Number Born in a Minute.

It has been computed that about 36,000,000 babies are born into the world each year. The rate of production is therefore about seventy per minute, or more than one for every beat of the clock.

With the one-a-second calculation every reader is familiar, but it is not everyone who stops to calculate what this means when it comes to a year's supply. It will, therefore, be a startling fact to many persons to find, on the authority of a well-known statistician, that, could the infants of a year be ranged in a line in cradles, the cradles would extend around the globe.

The same writer looks at the matter in a more picturesque light. He imagines the babies being carried past a given point in their mothers' arms, one by one, and the procession being kept up night and day until the last hour in the twelfth month had passed by. A sufficiently liberal rate is allowed, but even in going past at the rate of twenty a minute, 1,200 an hour, during the entire year, the reviewer at his post would have seen only the sixth part of the infantile host.

In other words, the babe that had to be carried when the tramp began would be able to walk when but a mere fraction of its comrades had reached the reviewer's post, and when the year's supply of babies was drawing to a close there would be a rear guard not of infants, but of romping six-year-old boys and girls. —London Tid-Bits.

Group Picture of Kids.

A group picture was taken in Virginia Park yesterday by W. R. Bowles for the Redpath Chautauqua, to be used in their plate matter in other towns. Several hundred children were grouped in the Pavilion, on the steps and in front and a fine picture was secured.

Man Drowned.

Paducah, Ky., June 19.—Joseph T. McGuire, a native of Birmingham, Ala., an engraver at a local jewelry store, was drowned yesterday afternoon. He came here to take a position, the incumbent of which was drowned.

Still At It.

Redding, Cal., June 18.—The eighth eruption of Mount Lassen since it last became active, on May 30, was distinctly visible here at noon to-day, notwithstanding a thick haze that had obscured the outlines of the mountain, fifty miles away.

Cantrill's Big Pick-Up.

President Wilson yesterday signed the Cantrill providing for the payment of over $25,000 to Mrs. Dennis, of Owen county, for money due her late husband.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. P. J. CHENEY, & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists. Miss Sallie George B. Key is visiting in Bowling Green.

Elect Officers.

Lexington, Ky., June 19.—The Kentucky Pharmaceutical Association closed its business session here with the election of the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Leon Evans, Mayfield; first vice president, W. H. Tibbals Somers; second vice president, Miss Alice Caden, Lexington; third vice president, Geo. Moreland, Brandenburg; secretary, J. W. Gale, Frankfort, re-elected; treasurer, V. Driscoll, Carrollton; executive committee, R. S. Barryman, Versailles; William J. Johnson, Mayfield, and G. R. McGinnis, Louisville. It was decided to hold the 1915 convention either at Dawson Springs or Cerulean Springs.

Predicts Kincheloe

Will be Winner

(Princeton Leaders.) Over in the Second congressional district, the contest for the Democratic nomination for congress is "waxing warm," with Hon. David Kincheloe, of Madisonville, in the lead and almost certain of victory. Mr. Kincheloe is well known to the Democrats of old Caldwell, he having come over in time of need and helped to boost for the nominees by mounting the stump in their behalf. He is one of the state's best orators and a straight, loyal Democrat and would rank among the leading and most brilliant congressmen in Washington.

Prof. Peterson Has Arrived.

Prof. W. S. Peterson, the new President of Bethel Female College, arrived yesterday and found his household goods already here and was very busy yesterday getting them unloaded. His family will not come for several weeks. Prof. Peterson is a personal friend of Everett Kemp, one of the Chautauqua lecturers who was in the city yesterday, and their meeting was as cordial as it was unexpected.

AMERICANS REPLY

To Criticisms of The Mexicans At Niagara Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 19.—The American delegation to the Mexican mediation conference last night made public a statement issued with the consent of the Washington government, replying to the statement given out by the Mexican delegation, criticising the American plan for the establishment of a provisional government in Mexico with a constitutionalist at its head.

Suggestions that President Wilson had any intent to destroy the electoral liberty of Mexico are "utterly repudiated" by the American representatives. The statement covers the whole range of criticism by the Huerta delegates. Coming on the eve of the full conference of mediators and delegates, which may be postponed until Saturday, the statement stirred the mediation colony. It was interpreted as foreshadowing the unalterable position of the United States in future parleys.

BURDEN ALWAYS ON WOMEN

Exercise of All Her Ingenuity and Adaptability Is Demanded of Jobless Man's Wife.

There has been much anxiety at the city hall over the displacement of certain employees who were deemed superfluous, and the approaching "decapitation" of others, according to the Philadelphia Ledger. Quite apart from the question of whether political reprisal was an actuating motive of removal, the curtain might be lifted upon the distress created in many a home by the fact that the breadwinner has lost his occupation—but into the merits of these cases it is impossible to enter here. Any man who accepts a position under city, state or national government knows what are the giddy vicissitudes of fortune's wheel in politics. In the industrial world as well many men have been lopped off the pay roll and have found themselves in dire extremities to provide for the sustenance of those dependent on them.

But the brunt of it all falls more heavily upon the woman. As in war time the more piteous suffering was that of her who was left at home to await tidings of fatality or injury, so the whole weight of business calamity (and a great deal of business is war) comes upon a woman's shoulders, her heart and her anxious mind.

She must think for all the family—she must plan things a woman can do to make up for the absence of the pay envelope. Her fingers fly to weave and stitch, to wash and iron, to make preserves. She takes care of children, she teaches them, she becomes a purchasing agent, she acts as secretary. All the adroit and marvelous ingenuity and adaptability of the American woman are bent to the end of making a living for those she loves. A man out of work who has that one great treasure of a true helpmeet has not lost his fortune, and he cannot fail.

FEET TO BECOME OBSOLETE?

In View of Present Cheap Electric Conveyances There Seems to Be Such a Possibility.

As a result of the quick and cheap modes of conveyance prevalent nowadays people are not walking so much as formerly, asserts a writer in London Answers.

There was a period when we were able to move our ears at will, but disuse of the organ did away with the power. It is possible that our feet may one day become obsolete.

In the year 1912-13 3,219,857,293 was the stupendous total of the number of passengers carried on the electric tramways and light railways of the United Kingdom.

In the steam period of 1898 the number of passengers carried was 858,485,542, and in the day of the horse, 1879, the figure reached 150,881,515.

The public have certainly gained in convenience, but not in health. There has never been any dispute of the fact that walking is the most health-giving and natural exercise possible. And yet it does not come within the daily curriculum of the average man and woman to exercise nature's own equipment, but bus or car is hailed.

Green Hair the Latest Freak.

Green hair, which has so far made only a tentative and fugitive appearance at fancy dress balls, is now to become a recognized addition to the wardrobe of the woman of fashion. That is the effect of the action of the "Fashions Committee of the Coiffeurs of Paris," who have decided to equip forthwith 40 mannequins with 400 colored wigs and to let them loose upon a tolerant, but startled, world. The associated hairdressers find it no objection that the new coiffure will be "extremely dear," both in itself and in virtue of the fact that each wig must have a dress to match. Indeed, when one considers the obvious scope there is for freaks which have nothing to recommend them beyond their expensiveness, one cannot but applaud the lenience and moderation of the great arbiters of fashion.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Why

Did your father and your grandfather always use a STUDEBAKER wagon and no other?

BECAUSE they found by experience that better material, more skill, more money and more value had been built into them than any other, no matter what they cost and no matter how cheap the other might be.

BECAUSE Studebakers refused to lower their quality just to gain a low price and make selling easy.

WHAT OF IT? It means money to you. It means a good wagon for 20 years instead of a poor one for 10 years. Don't trade that last 10 years of satisfaction for five dollars difference in price.

Calvin-Sutherland.

The wedding at Marion, Ky., Tuesday morning of Miss Nelle Sutherland to Mr. James M. Calvin was a brilliant social event. The church was beautifully decorated, the color scheme of pink and white being carried out in detail. Pink and white roses were used in profusion with smilax and asparagus ferns. The wedding music was played by Miss Flannery, violinist and Miss Pope, cornetist. After a beautiful program, the bridal party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. The ushers, Misses Boston, Moore, Burget and Rochester came first, beautifully gowned in white crepe with pink girdles. The flower girl, little Miss Carrie Moore, carrying a basket of pink sweet peas, preceded the bride, who came in with her maid of honor, Miss Mildred Bennett, of Greenville, Ky., and was met at the altar by the groom and her best man, Mr. B. O. Hinton. A beautiful and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Chandler. The bride was lovely in a gown of white crepe de chine with a veil and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of of bride's roses. The maid of honor was charming in a gown of pink crepe de chine and carried pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin left immediately for Louisville, where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Crabb for a few days before proceeding on a bridal trip to the East. The bride wore a blue crape traveling suit with hat to match. After August 1, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin will make their home in Princeton, Ky., where Mr. Calvin will be superintendent of the city schools. Mrs. Calvin is a social favorite in Marion and a girl of unusual beauty and charm. Mr. Calvin has lived in Paducah for the past seven years and his departure will be a great loss in social and educational circles. The gifts to the happy couple were unusual in their number and beauty. —Paducah Sun.

Edison's Daughter Married.

Orange, N. J., June 19.—Miss Madeline Edison, daughter of Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, Wednesday became the bride of John Eyre Sloane, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O'Connor Sloane, of Orange. The ceremony was performed at the Edison home in Llewellyn Park, Orange.

Unconscious Woman Beheaded.

Strassburg, Germany, June 19. Magdalene Wendel, 41, was the victim Wednesday of Germany's antiquated method of capital punishment. She was beheaded, together with M. H. Wirth, a laborer, her paramour, for having poisoned her husband. The headman, according to custom, was attired in full evening dress. As the woman approached the block and saw the dread ax, she fainted away with terror and was dragged to her death.

Balloonists Found.

Roy Donaldson, pilot, and Wilbur and Henderson, aide, who left Portland, Oregon, Thursday in a balloon for Springfield, and for whom rangers and others had been searching the woods for days, staggered into the Forest Rangers' camp at Walker's prairie June 17, more dead than alive. They came down in the mountains and abandoned their balloon in a pine forest and walked 18 miles hunting shelter.

MRS. WINN'S ADVICE TO WOMEN

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be Restored to Health.

Kansas City, Mo.—"The doctors told me I would never be a mother. Every month the pains were so bad that I could not bear my weight on one foot. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and had not finished the first bottle when I felt greatly relieved and I took it until it made me sound and well, and I now have two fine baby girls. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for what it has done for me. I always speak a word in favor of your medicine to other women who suffer when I have an opportunity."—Mrs. H. T. WINN, 1225 Fremont Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Read What Another Woman says:
Cumming, Ga.—"I tell some suffering woman every day of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it has done for me. I could not eat or sleep, had a bad stomach and was in misery all the time. I could not do my housework or walk any distance without suffering great pain. I tried doctors' medicines and different patent medicines but failed to get relief. My husband brought home your Vegetable Compound and in two weeks I could eat anything, could sleep like a healthy baby, and walk a long distance without feeling tired. I can highly recommend your Vegetable Compound to women who suffer as I did, and you are at liberty to use this letter."—Mrs. CHARLIE BAGLEY, R. 3, Cumming, Ga.

"Exile" For Tuberculosis.

Dr. Guelpa, a leading physician of Paris, advocates a law forcing all persons afflicted with tuberculosis to live in the country until they are cured.

"Sufferers from tuberculosis often refuse to leave cities when a hygienic mode of life in the country would effect a cure. Confident that they will be cured in town they remain, spreading contagion until they die."

Dr. Guelpa would have the State force patients to live in sanatoriums or elsewhere in the country until recommended by physicians for readmission to cities. They should be kept under governmental supervision for their own and public safety.

It is unlikely that France or any other country will adopt such drastic means of combating tuberculosis, but Dr. Guelpa's proposal should be widely useful in directing the attention of sufferers from tuberculosis to the importance of fresh and pure air as a cure. It is, of course, possible to affect a case of tuberculosis favorably by a strict adherence to hygienic living in a city, but the air is never as good as it is in the country. The cure is, therefore, less probable than it would be if undertaken outside of the zone of coal smoke, street dust and dense population.

The old-fashioned idea that exile to a distant part of the country boasting a peculiar climate was necessary has been abandoned. It has been demonstrated that prompt removal to the country and strict adherence to a plan of fresh air living may restore health.

Tuberculosis is not so readily communicable that public sentiment will favor enforced exile as a public health measure. Nevertheless, it is sufficiently communicable to make the support of free hospitals for tubercular patients far more economical than to allow them to live unhygienically in the city and propagate the disease.—Courier Journal.

White Slaver Held.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 19—After hearing the testimony of Katherine Starkey, aged 18, of Evansville, Ind., United States Commissioner Robinson held Mariano Bonida, 32 years old, also of Evansville for action of the grand jury which is convening now in Rochester, N. Y. The charge against Bonida is the violation of a section of the Mann white slave law in bringing the Starkey girl from Indiana to New York.

Resumed Business.

We are now ready to write fire insurance again in our former Companies, which have resumed business in the State. We would be pleased to have our former patrons and new ones as well call upon us for whatever they need in our line.

SOLD AS WHOLE.

Monarch Property In Owensboro Brings $23,000.

The Cooper Davis Realty Co., of this city, sold the Monarch property in Owensboro Wednesday to A. F. Allen for $23,000, a considerable advance over what it cost the company. It was sold as a whole.

Mr. Allen is about forty-five years of age. He is not married. He went to Evansville from Pittsburg about six months ago. Recently in a Y. M. C. A. campaign in Evansville he donated $2,500 to the institution. He has apartments at an Evansville Hotel. His company has been securing options on coal properties in West Kentucky. He said that he was going to marry a Kentucky girl in the near future, and spent $20,000 in improving the Monarch property, which originally cost $100,000. A year and a half ago the Hopkinsville dealers bought it for $21,000. Odie Davis had charge of the deal.

Commission Complete.

Frank Greene, of Carrollton, one of the joint authors of the Greene-Glenn law, is the state's member of commission that will draft new fire insurance legislation to be recommended to the next general assembly under the terms of the agreement. The other members are: Henry P. Barrett, a Henderson capitalist, who represents the business men, and George Payne, of Frankfort, representing the insurance interests.

Mrs. Annie Coleman, of Paducah, is the guest of Mrs. John Board.

GEORGE E. KNIGHT

Former Citizen of Christian Dies in Louisville.

George E. Knight died Tuesday night at his home in Louisville, after a long illness of a complication of diseases. He was about sixty years old and was reared near Church Hill, this county.

Mr. Knight was an uncle of Judge J. Walter Knight, of this city. John R. Knight, of Church Hill, and other members of that family. He had been a resident of Louisville for a number of years. He was a member of the Christian church and a much esteemed citizen. His wife and two children survive. The interment took place at Louisville.

Says Men Are All Alike.

In the July Woman's Home Companion appears the story of a coquette in which the coquette gives the following advice to her cousin: "Don't make the stupid mistake thousands of women make. Don't! Every woman thinks her husband is different. But, trust a worldly woman, my dear, of much experience, men are all alike. They tire of what they know is entirely their own. The thing a man should never lose sight of is that his wife is attractive to other men as well as to himself."

Former Vice-President Adlai E. Stevenson left an estate valued at $100,000, to be divided equally among his three children.

LAFFOON IS PLEASED

Over The Settlement of The Fire Insurance Squabble.

Louisville, Ky., June 17.—Ruby Laffoon, chairman of the State Fire Insurance Rating board, received a telegram yesterday informing him that at a meeting of insurance men in New York the agreement entered into at a meeting of state officials, insurance and other business men June 10 had been ratified. When seen, during a brief stop-over en route to his home at Madisonville from Frankfort, Mr. Laffoon said that the settlement of the differences between the insurance men and the board of which he is the head was gratifying to him and to Gov. McCreary.

"I consider that we have won a great victory for the people of Kentucky," Mr. Laffoon said. "The agreement ratified at the meeting of the insurance men in New York City today is practically the same as the proposition I submitted at the first meeting of state officials, insurance and other business men held in Louisville last April. It provides for a reduction of 12 per cent in insurance on farm property, a reduction of from 15 to 20 per cent on city dwellings and a reduction of 25 percent on loose leaf tobacco sales houses in Kentucky. Before the enactment of the Greene-Glenn insurance law the people of Kentucky were at the mercy of the insurance companies doing business in this state, but under the agreement ratified in New York City today they are relieved of much of the burden they have been carrying heretofore."

"It's Hopkins County's Time To Cut The Melon."

Hon. D. H. Kincheloe, candidate for Congress, spent Friday in Dawson Springs, where he has the enthusiastic support of practically every Democrat in this city. From reliable information from every county in the district, there seems to be no doubt but what he will win the nomination for Congress by a great majority; that he will carry Hopkins County by as big a majority as any candidate for Congress ever carried it, there is no doubt. The Democrats of this district will exercise good judgment when they send him to Congress. He is able, worthy and is in sympathy with all legislation looking to the betterment of the working man and has the interest of the taxing masses at heart. There is not a man in the district who is more able to represent this district in Congress than he. He lives in Hopkins County, the second biggest democratic county in the district, and yet never had but one Congressman. He has rendered as much service to the success of the democratic party as any man to his age in Kentucky, and yet this is the first great honor he has ever asked at the hands of the party; while his only opponent has held office at the hands of the democratic party for years. So why should one man hold all the offices and undeserving, worthy and brilliant Democrat like Dave Kincheloe be not honored.

We believe that the Democrats of this district will take pleasure in rallying enthusiastically to his support in this contest and that he will win by a tremendous majority.—The Dawson Tribune, June 5, 1914.

COFFEE POT TO MOON

Necessary To Hold The Coffee Consumed In America.

During the year 1913 the United States imported 852,529,493 pounds of coffee, having an entry value of nearly $105,000,000. To the average reader this may not appear very startling, but a little calculation will bring to mind the significance of these figures. One pound of finely ground coffee will make no less than three gallons of a reasonably strong beverage. Our 1913 imports therefore made at least 2,557,500,000 gallons. A standard gallon contains 231 cubic inches, or, putting it a little differently, would fill a cylindrical coffee pot seven inches in diameter and six inches high. The coffee imported in 1913 would therefore fill a cylinder seven inches in diameter and 242,188 miles high. Could such a cylinder be erected it would be necessary to take care not to build it in the direction of the moon's orbit around the earth, for that satellite's average distance from our planet being but 238,850 miles, it might knock off from the top of our extended coffee pot some 3,338 miles. Were the cylinder flexible and the base well anchored, however, it might topple over and wrap itself nearly ten times around the earth at the equator. All of which is mentioned merely to show that we drink some coffee in this country.

Over two-thirds of the coffee consumed in the United States comes from Brazil. Our imports from that country in 1913 amounted to something over 625,000,000 pounds, having a value at the ports of entry of $73,650,430. It is stated that coffee derives its name from the city of Kaffa in Abyssinia, in which country it is believed that the coffee tree originated.

Forest Notes.

The New York state forest nurseries have a capacity of 28 million young trees a year.

Approximately 750 acres on the Oregon national forest were planted with young trees this spring.

The state of Pennsylvania celebrates two arbor days each year, one for spring planting and one for the fall, in April and October respectively.

On the Deerledge national forest in Montana one lookout station has the record of reporting accurately, by distance and direction, a fire that was sixty miles away.

Nearly 3 million young trees are being set out this spring on the national forests of northern Idaho and Montana. On the St. Joe national forest in Idaho three thousand acres will be planted.

Ranches within or adjacent to the Sierra national forest, California, have formed a cooperative association for the prevention of forest fires. They need to use fire in clearing land for farming, and will do it on a community basis, with all members present to present the fires spread.

PELLAGRA VICTIM

Aged Lady Dies of the Disease at Hospital.

Mrs. Lila Pickett died of pellagra at the Western State Hospital June 15. She was received at the hospital from Carlisle county about two years ago. The deceased was a widow and was seventy-three years old. The interment took place in the hospital burying ground.

Contract For Readers

Goes Three Ways.

Frankfort, Ky., June 18.—The adoption of readers, the biggest contract of all the State adoptions for the publishers, was split three ways by the State Text Book Commission yesterday afternoon, the American Book Company getting contracts for the first three grades; B. F. Johnson & Co., graded classics being adopted for the Fourth and Fifth grades; and Lyon & Carnahan getting the primer; W. H. Wheeler & Co. and Rowe-Peterson & Co. each getting a contract to furnish supplemental readers.

Holding Two Offices.

Four of the five members of the Board of Visitors of the Kentucky Institute for the Education of the Blind are holding office illegally, according to an opinion of Attorney General Garnett, on the ground that they are holding other city or State positions. The members differ with him and a suit may be filed to settle the matter.

Sugar Cane.

Sugar cane is a species of grass. The stalks or canes resemble corn stalks of regions further north. Great quantities of cane are grown in Louisiana and other southern states. As the canes approach maturity they throw out a long smooth hollow joint termed the arrow. As the joints ripen the leaves wither and fall away with the stem. The juice is extracted by being pressed in a sugar mill between several heavy rollers. The juice is forced out by pressure and is immediately boiled down to prevent fermentation.

Dancing Always Popular.

In the very far east Confucius, who lived nearly 900 years before Christ, mentions the dancing of warriors and of the outcast women. In the ancient Japanese scrolls constant pictures appear of dancing girls and warriors. And in Phoenicia and Lucania, Sparta and ancient Greece always we find that dancing was a part of the life of the people, just as it is today.

Physical Culture in Old Egypt. That physical culture was a fact with the fashionable ladies of the courts of the Pharaohs is another phase of Egyptian life revealed by the rock pictures of the "Mother of Civilization." The more we moderns dig into the buried past of the Pharaohs the more moderate grows the estimation of our wonderful progress.

Another View of It.

"It is as much trouble to raise a puppy as a boy," according to a critic of women. Perhaps, but the pup doesn't go to college and gamble your hard-earned money away, and then expect you to buy an annulment when he gets drunk and marries a chorus girl old enough to be his mother.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

WILL AND THE WAY

Determined Youth Proved That the Old Adage Still Holds Good.

All during the journey from Chicago, Harry Griffith watched the two girls who occupied the section opposite. They were interesting girls, and from the snatches of conversation that occasionally floated across the aisle he gathered that they were bound for some eastern school. The one was tall and extremely good looking, while her companion scarcely reached as high as his heart, and weighed far more than the scale of "perfect proportions" allowed. Harry was twenty-five, and returning from a business trip to his father's mine, where he had spent six weeks preparing for a large shipment of ore. Radiant with the enthusiasm of his first position of trust, for he had but recently completed his education, he wanted to shake the whole world by the hand, and extend the courtesies of friendship to everybody. He tried his utmost to win a smile of recognition from the lips of the taller girl, but so far as she was concerned, he did not exist. Once she dropped a magazine, and he quickly restored it to her hand, only to receive a polite "Thank you" in a tone that warranted no reply. He always followed the girls to the dining car, hoping that the waiter would seat him at their table, but invariably they were placed with two dowagers from the car ahead, and he was forced to sit at the table which the disagreeable waiter had selected for him.

At New York, the train being 20 minutes late, he rushed out, without even a backward glance at the tall girl and her dumpy companion, for he wanted to catch the limited to Boston. Just five minutes remained before the time scheduled for the train's departure, so he stopped to buy some papers. Settling himself in the chair, he glanced about, and believed himself the victim of a hallucination, for in the chairs opposite sat his fellow-travelers from Chicago. The taller one blushed and swung her chair toward the window, and never again would she encounter the gaze of Harry, but talked incessantly to her friend, whose merry laughter awakened envy in the gentle heart of the man across the aisle. Then he noticed her suitcase, which was obviously new, and distinctly printed on the end was E. B. W., Negaunee, Mich. Naturally, he drew his memorandum from his pocket, and made note of the information thus gained, smiling his appreciation at the turn luck had taken.

Arriving at the Back Bay station, he followed the girls to the taxi stand and before jumping into his own, heard the chatter say: "To Seaton hall, please." Again he smiled and immediately began to formulate a plan. Harry knew many girls at the different schools thickly scattered about his home town, but this was a new one started while he was at college. He was a firm believer in "Where there's a will there's a way," and he was not lacking in the former quality. Before the night was many hours older he had planned a strategic attack on Seaton hall worthy of a knight trained in the chivalrous days of old.

He slept the sleep of an untroubled mind and awoke to find a day of unsurpassable beauty. He declined to accompany his mother downtown in the motorcar, preferring to walk. His exuberant spirits demanded expression, and he swung with long, rapid strides through the Fenway. His destination proved to be an exclusive flower shop, where he ordered a large bunch of violets and orchids. This accomplished, he continued on his way until the artistic window of a confectionery shop arrested his attention. Harry never did things by halves, so he bought a five-pound box of the best bonbons and requested the salesgirl to wrap the two parcels together. Then he went to a hotel and called up Seaton hall. "Hello! Is that Seaton hall?" he inquired of the refined modulated voice at the other end of the wire. "Yes, it is," came the answer. "This is Adams Express company, and we have a package here addressed to your school. The name is defaced so that it is impossible to distinguish it, but the initials are E. B. W., and the package came from Negaunee, Mich. We are not allowed to deliver the box until the entry is correct in our books. Can you tell us whether there is a young lady

there with the initials E. B. W. from Negaunee?"

The voice did not reply immediately and Harry began to wonder if his well-laid plans had "gang awry," then she answered: "We have a Miss Worth here; Miss Eunice Worth, and she returned from her home in Michigan but yesterday, and I cannot imagine why a box should arrive so soon."

"I shall send the box up immediately, and thank you for the information." He was afraid to say more for fear she could detect a note of triumph in his voice, and hung up the receiver.

Harry always prided himself on his ability to print neatly, and as he formed the characters that represented the name of his fair charmer, he defied anyone to detect that they had not been made by a professional printer. Then he wrote a note to Miss Worth, inclosing a card and asking permission to meet her. This he slipped in the box of flowers, and wrapped the package neatly, bribing a bellboy to take it to Seaton hall, with instructions to say that it came from the express office, if any questions were asked.

The next morning he received a note thanking him for the gifts, ending with these words: "It is impossible for me to see you, for I dare not encourage the acquaintance of a man whom I have never met. You may write and explain where you saw me, but I will not continue the correspondence."

Harry wrote, but the letter called forth no reply from the relentless Eunice.

Nearly a year later he was sent to Negaunee, and being of a determined nature, he called up the home of Miss Worth and inquired if she had returned home for the Easter vacation. The accommodating maid vouchsafed the welcome information that she was expected to arrive on the afternoon train.

Thoroughly convinced in the truth of the old adage about the "will and the way," Harry smiled approvingly at his presumption in coming to meet a girl who had refused to consider him as a possible acquaintance as he paced the length of the train shed. When the train appeared at the entrance of the shed, he stationed himself in a position that warranted an unobstructed view of the passengers as they alighted. He eagerly scanned each face, and when the seventh one appeared in the doorway, his joyous spirits suddenly took wings, for he saw the dumpy, unattractive companion of the girl whom he had believed to be Eunice Worth enter the waiting motorcar. The suitcase she carried bore the initials E. B. W.—Jean Douglas, in the Buffalo Express.

HAD HIM "STUMPED."

A good story of how the president of the British board of education was cornered by a London elementary schoolgirl is being told. It is Mr. Pease's excellent habit to visit schools in his spare time, and he is just now devoting much attention to the problem of the disturbance of work by outside noises. He was in a school near a railway line the other day listening to a class of girls in a reading lesson, when a noisy train went by. He stopped the girl who was reading and said to her:

"Did you unconsciously raise your voice as the train went by?"

The girl replied:

"If I was unconscious of it how can I tell you?"

For once a cabinet minister had no reply ready.

CHEAPER POSTAGE RATES.

The London Express says the campaign for penny postage with France is arousing considerable enthusiasm in industrial and commercial circles both at home and across the channel. It is felt that the reduction from five cents to two would give a great stimulus not only to the cordial relations existing between the two countries, but also to commerce. The Paris Gaulois, discussing the question, says: "The penny stamp between Great Britain and France will have enormous moral importance, and will be a symbol of the friendship uniting us to our neighbors. It is not to be doubted that it will be received with enthusiasm."

MODERN COURTSHIP.

"You never seem to get any letters from my sweetheart."

"Oh, nothing so commonplace as that. We exchange graphophone records."

SALE OF SEALS

Sale of 44,000,000 In 1913 Shows Big Increase.

More than 44,000,000 Red Cross Christmas Seals were sold last December, according to a report issued today by The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and the American Red Cross. In this way $440,000 is netted for anti-tuberculosis work in various parts of the United States.

The sale in 1913 is a gain of 4,000,000 seals over 1912, or 10 per cent. It is hoped that this year the 50,000,000 mark will be reached. The seal design for 1914 has been selected and orders for the printing of 100,000,000 seals have been placed. Plans for the organization of a larger sale this year than ever before have been perfected.

New York State led the country last year with a sale of over 10,500,000 seals or one for each man, woman and child in the state. Of this number, more than 6,825,000 were sold outside of New York City by State Charities Aid Association, Pennsylvania's sale was second largest, aggregating 3,125,000 seals. Ohio came next with a sale of 2,800,000, Wisconsin fourth with 2,700,000, and Illinois, fifth with 2,500,000. Hawaii sold the most seals per capita, the total sale being somewhat over two for each inhabitant. Rhode Island came second with a sale of two per person.

Beginning with a sale of 13,500, in 1908, in six seasons the revenue which these little holiday seals have brought to the anti-tuberculosis campaign has more than tripled, an aggregate for the period of over $1,800,000 or 180,000,000 seals.

GIVE QUAIL A CHANCE

IS FARMER'S FRIEND AND MONEY-
SAVER EVERYWHERE.

Sportsman in Destroying Birds of Such Direct Economic Importance Does Damage Which Cannot Be Estimated in Dollars.

Careful and conservative students
of its habits have rated every quail
as worth five dollars to the farmer.
Few turkeys yield so much, yet the farmer would feel insulted to have a sportsman ask—or take without asking—the privilege of shooting some of his domestic fowls.

The man with the gun may not maim or even frighten his horses and cattle, though he frequently does injure them more or less through the latter cause if not the former, but in destroying birds of such direct economic importance he does a damage
which cannot be estimated in dollars
and cents.

Guiltless of even a little trespassing charged to its cousin, the ruffed grouse or pheasant, that of feasting on young twigs, sprouts and buds, it has never been convicted of real damage
at any season of the year.

It is a diligent gleaner in stubble fields, but there is no evidence that it destroys either sprouting or ripening grain.

Few birds, save the rose-breasted grobeak, will devour Colorado potato bugs like the quail. The moth and larva of the cut-worm are eaten with relish. Chinch bug, cotton worm, cucumber beetle, wireworm, cloverleaf
weevil, army worm, cotton bollweevil, rose bug, grasshopper, locust and tobacco worm butterfly are among the ingredients of its flesh diet. Few birds eat so large a proportion of injurious insects.

Just the money value saved to us
by this intervention cannot be even approximated. But when we con-

Eggs of the Bob White.

sider the fact that figures show the loss from the boll worm in some years
at $15,000,000; potato beetle, $10,000,- 000; cotton worm, $30,000,000; chinch
bug and Rocky Mountain locust each $100,000,000, it is very evident that birds which make them a considerable portion of their food are too valuable to be killed just for sport.

As a seed—and weed—destroyer, its mission is scarcely less important.
The food capacity of each bird is estimated at a half ounce per day.

Some one, taking Virginia for the basis of computation and allowing four quails to the square mile, finds that in that state alone 575 tons of seeds are consumed by quails during the months from September 1 to April 30. Some of our worst weeds are also included in the list, as grab grass, black plantain, cockle, orange hawk-weed, rag-weed, fox tail, wild morning glory and bindweed.

Though a prolific race, quails have other enemies than the gunner to work for their extinction. One of the most common is heavy snow, cutting off their food supply. As they are ground birds, heavy snow followed by rain or sleet often forms a crust under which they are hopelessly buried.

The farmer who scatters grain freely about the yard in time of heavy snow will find that they are as regular feeders as his domestic fowls, and the little care given for the short period required pays in pleasure as well as in dollars and cents.

USE FRESH MANURE IN FALL

When Distributed at Planting Time Fermentation Burns Roots of Plants—Plow in Fall.

Do not use fresh manure at planting time. The fermentation burns the roots of young plants. It is a good plan to plow fresh manure in the fall
and leave the ground rough all winter, so that the alternate freezing and thawing will crumble the soil. Use only well-rotted manure at planting time. If you have none, you would better buy chemical fertilizers, unless your land is desperately in need of decaying vegetable fiber, which it probably is.

For leaf and stem crops, choose a kind of fertilizer which is rich in nitrogen; for fruit and flowers a kind which has a good proportion of phosphoric acid and potash. Potatoes and other root crops also require plenty of potash.

Machinery Is Cheapest.

Some farmers declare that it is cheaper to hire men to run the farm than to buy machinery. Maybe it is but nobody can prove it. Besides the machines never go to town on Saturday and fail to come back on Monday, but are always right on the job when needed and the wife does not have to cook and wash for them.

NOW FOR SHORTCAKES

WELCOME SEASON OF STRAW-BERRIES IS HERE.

May Be Made in Many Ways, Each
One of Them Tempting—Standard Recipe for the Biscuit Dough.

Is there anyone who does not like strawberry shortcake—not the sweet, cake-and-strawberry mixture often
sold under that name in restaurants,
but the home-made variety of rich,
short, biscuit batter, rich berries and plenty of whipped cream!

Anyone who can make good baking powder biscuits can achieve a delectable shortcake that can be served in many ways. It may be a foamy Washington pie affair, composed of two layers of bread, each layer having golden brown, crispy crusts; or it may look equally tempting, but be made from a single, thicker bread loaf,
which has been split in the middle after being baked, so there is much less crust. A shortcake may be made for individual serving, the batter being cut with a biscuit cutter and baked in small, round shapes.

The batter may be baked in square sheets and the finished "cake" cut in slices, instead of in pie-shaped pieces.
These have the strawberry filling more evenly distributed than the round loaves.

Strawberry shortcake is an inexpensive dessert, even when strawberries first come into market, and are selling at high prices. A single box used in this manner is sufficient for six persons.

The standard recipe for the biscuit
dough bread to be used as the foundation of the shortcake is this: Take two cupfuls of bread flour, three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half of a teaspoonful of salt, three tablespoonfuls of shortening, one cupful of milk and water—half and half. The more quickly and deftly the flour is handled the lighter will be the biscuit or bread. Sift the flour with the salt and baking powder. Then, with the tips of the fingers, or with a spatula, rub in the shortening lightly. Do not rub it too fine. Keep a rather coarse texture. Then quickly stir in the milk, and unless you are in a hurry let the latter stand for five minutes. In this way the flour has a chance to swell and the batter can be more easily handled. Put it on a floured board, then spread or roll it into shape. If you are making biscuit and want them to brown well
brush them over lightly with milk.
Have the oven very hot when your short bread goes in. If a slightly sweet tasting bread is desired you may add a level tablespoonful of sugar
to the flour.

While the bread part is cooking mash a box of strawberries. They need not be large sized berries. Sweeten them to taste, and as soon as the bread comes out of the oven put in the layer of berries, and if you wish to serve a few whole ones for the top dot these in the whipped cream which you spread on top of the bread. Many people like whipped cream with strawberry shortcake, but some prefer the plain cream.

The bread mixture, as described above may be used for shortcake of any kind—apple, peach or rhubarb.
Graham biscuit batter can also be used for shortcake with strawberries,
and any good graham biscuit mixture
may be used for this.

Fruit Jelly.

Pour one-half pint of cold water over one-half package of gelatine, and stand away to dissolve. Have ready the juice of one-half a can of pineapples, the juice of one lemon and one orange and one-half pint of sugar, and pour over this one pint of boiling water. Add this hot mixture to the gelatine, stir thoroughly and strain, and set away to cool. Cut one-half the slices from the can of pineapples into small dice and cut up two bananas in the same fashion. One-quarter pound of candied cherries should be split, or a handful of raspberries may be substituted. When the gelatine begins to form so that the fruit will not drop to the bottom, stir the fruit
in lightly, pour into a mold and chill.
Serve with whipped cream.

Apple Tarts and Jelly.

Make a rich pie crust, no sugar;
pare and core some nice apples, cut pie crust in strips just long enough to go around once and as deep as your apple is, wind around apple, fill holes with one teaspoonful of sugar and bake in a quick oven. Put a spoonful of whipped cream on each apple and serve. Very nice. Take your apple skins, wash and put on to cook or simmer about an hour; put through your flour sieve, return to fire, add a little sugar and one tablespoonful of brandy.
Cook until thick. Now you have some nice red jelly for filling or anything
you like.

Beef Loaf.

One and one-half pounds hamburger steak, two eggs, one cup milk, three crackers rolled, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon poultry dressing. Mix all thoroughly and put in buttered bread
tin; over top place two or three slices
of salt pork, and bake three-quarters
to one hour in moderate oven.

Stove Polish Ribbon.

Stove polish is the name that has been applied to the shiny black waxed satin ribbon that has made its appearance this season.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 24.

A Country Boy Who Has Been The Architect of His Own Fortune.

Louis L. Elgin was born in Christian county, May 30, 1865. He was educated in the schools of the county and later graduated from Ogden College at Bowling Green. At this time he had not selected a vocation but determined to qualify himself for a business career and next took a course in a business college. Graduating in 1890, he went to Mississippi and became a book-keeper on a plantation farm for one year, but all the time was longing for a return to the "Old Kentucky Home." Coming back to Hopkinsville, he found work to do and adapted a policy of "Watchful waiting" for something to "turn up." In 1893 the opportunity came. The firm of Rogers & Elgin desired to retire from the drug business, the junior partner being a kinsman of Mr. Elgin's. The store was purchased and L. L. Elgin, Druggist, entered upon a career of success that has been uninterrupted for 21 years. The business was exactly to his taste and he lost no time in applying all his energies to the study of the various lines necessary to make a successful druggist. In time he became a licensed pharmacist and is now a member of the Kentucky Pharmaceutical Association and also of the Kentucky Retail Club. He has long been prominent in business circles and a leader in his own line. He has prospered from the first and a substantial growth has enlarged his interests from year to year. Mr. Elgin was married June 11, 1903, to Miss Alice Gray, of Memphis, and one child, a daughter of ten years of age, has blessed the union. He owns a beautiful building lot on South Main street, upon which he is about to erect a modern residence.

Mr. Elgin is a member of the Methodist church and stands for all that is best in the community. In all respects he is a useful and desirable citizen, is a wide-awake business man and a typical booster for the "Only Town on the Map."

Clarksville.....	14 27	341

The moguls dropped the third game to Paducah Thursday by 7 to 2. It was not a bad ending to take two out of three games from the team in the first division. The last game was in striking contrast to the two excellent ones Tuesday and Wednesday.

Errors by the local team in the first inning and five hits garnered by Paducah in the eighth frame gave the visitors an easy victory.

Score: R. H. E.
Hopkinsville.....2 5 6
Paducah.....7 10 1
Batteries—Elliott and Dayton, Kinser and Deberry.

The locals went to Clarksville for three days yesterday, and will be back home Monday for a series of 3 games with Cairo, which will be the last series here until July.

Thursday's Results.

Paducah 7, Hopkinsville 2.
Clarksville 2, Owensboro 1.
Henderson 3, Cairo 5.

Wednesday's Results.

Hopkinsville 2, Paducah 1.
Clarksville 6, Owensboro 13.

DIFFICULT TO CATCH.

An Englishman who was appointed to an important post in China got married soon after. Among the recipients of the usual little cardboard boxes containing a piece of wedding cake was a Chinese merchant with whom the bridegroom had an outstanding account for goods supplied. After the honeymoon one of the first persons the newly wedded husband met was his Celestial creditor.

"And how did you like the cake?" asked the Englishman, laughingly, after the usual congratulations.

"Ah, ha!" retorted the Chinaman, with a cunning leer, "me no such big fool to eat him, sah. Me put cake in fire. Burn him up. He! he!"

"Oh, that's too bad," said the Englishman, very much hurt. "You might have tasted it at least, out of compliment to my wife and myself; didn't you?"

"Me too clute, sah," said the Celestial, with the same cunning smile. "You owe me money, sah; sendee poison cake; I eat him; I die; you no payee up. Houplal! He! Ho! I know you Angleesh!"—National Monthly.

FIGHT OPENS ON COMMISSION FORM

Elwood Hamilton, of Frankfort, Trying to Find Defects In Act He Opposed.

Representative Elwood Hamilton, of Frankfort, is still fighting the new act providing for commission form of government in his and other cities and trying to pick defects in the law, chapter 92 of the 1914 acts. The following from Frankfort is his latest move:

"Chapter 92 of the Acts of 1914, providing for the commission government for third-class cities, will never stand the constitutional test under the rule laid down by the Court of Appeals in the case of the Board of Prison Commissioners against Louis Spencer recently, in the opinion of Representative Elwood Hamilton, who has had occasion to investigate the statute. A suit will be filed in a short time to test the law.

A petition for an election on the question of adopting the commission form in being circulated in Frankfort and a large number of people have signed it.

Section 1 of the third-class city act, which is an act to amend Article 4, Chapter 89, Kentucky Statutes, says the act shall "be amended by adding thereto, at the end thereof the following provisions," and then goes into the manner of adopting the commission form of government without incorporating into the act so much of the law as is sought to be conferred into it.

This, in the opinion of Representative Hamilton, is the fatal defect. The Court of Appeals, construing Section 51 of the Constitution, said its provisions were mandatory, and that in amending a law so much of it as is to be incorporated in the new law must be set out at length in the amended law.

Section 51 says: "No law enacted by the General Assembly shall relate to more than one subject and that shall be expressed in the title; and no law shall be revised, amended or the provisions thereof extended or conferred by reference to its title only, but so much thereof as is revised, amended, extended or conferred, shall be re-enacted and published at length."

Third-class cities include Frankfort, Owensboro, Henderson, Hopkinsville, Bowling Green and Middlesboro.

Kansas Supplied.

Harvey-Graham.

A quiet home wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening at 9:30 o'clock, the principals being Mr. John Langley Harvey and Miss Jeanie Trice Graham. The wedding was at the home of the bride's cousin, Mr. John B. Trice, on South Main street, and only the immediate family and two or three very close friends were present. Rev. C. M. Thompson, of the First Baptist church, officiated.

The decorations of the parlor were artistic and beautiful, sweet peas and ferns predominating. Mrs. Clayton D. Richards rendered Lohengrin's Wedding March. The service was performed most impressively, a ring being used. The bride was radiant in white crepe entrain with veil, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and valley lilies. The groom wore the usual evening suit.

A short musical program preceded the ceremony. Mr. Walter Trice sang Schubert's "Serenade" and Miss Anna Virginia Trice sang Charmide's "Promise."

Dainty and delicious refreshments were served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Harvey left in an automobile for Mr. Walter Trice's suburban bungalow on the Canton pike, where they will remain until July 6, when they will leave for North Carolina to remain until November. The bride is one of Hopkinsville's loveliest girls and the groom is a popular employee of the Imperial Tobacco Co., holding a lucrative and responsible position in the auditing department.

The July Woman's

Home Companion.

The July Woman's Home Companion contains a great variety of fiction, including the first installment of a four-part mystery story entitled, "The Sound of Water," by Marguerita Spalding Gerry. Other contributors of fiction are: Mary Heaton Vorse, Molly Elliot Seawell, Mable Martin Dill, Frederick M. Smith and Adele Randolph.

Special articles in the number full of news facts and interesting, practical ideas are: "The Business Girl's Vacation," made up from letters sent in by various contributors; "Why I Shall Marry Again," written by a widow forty-seven years old; "How Not To Be Fat," written by a woman whose report and suggestions are so specific that she declines to sign her name; "How to Write A Moving Picture Play," by Daniel Frohman, the well-known theatrical manager; "Fifty-one Better Babies;" "The Queen of the Garden," in which Frank A. Waugh, the well-known horticulturist, tells how to grow roses.

Oldest Senator.

Washington, June 18.—"Uncle Ike" Stephenson, the oldest senator, celebrated his 85th birthday today by appearing in the senate chamber wearing a bright red carnation. Senator Stephenson is one of the most regular attendants at the senate sessions, and rigors of a summer in Washington hold no terrors for him.

The July Smart Set.

The July issue of THE SMART SET combines a large amount of light, rollicking, breezy summer reading with a good proportion of strong, impressive material in its contents, and gives, besides pleasant reading for a careless hour on a hot day, a good deal of food for real serious thought, because most of the SMART SET stories are built around very strong definite ideas and are of the sort that linger in the mind.

Edgar Jepson's novelette, "The Night Hawk," is a story of a man, about-town who decides that the ideal life consists of sleeping in the daytime and enjoying himself at night. This sort of life as it works out makes a story that is full of unusual situations and clever dialogue of the sort that Mr. Jepson is distinguished for. There is nothing in this story but entertainment but it's full of that.
